Work Offered

Baak studio is an architectural firm offering various services covering architectural production and construction supervision. While combining ambition, vision and modern technology Baak studio assures sophistication in their designs.

During this internship, the intern will work on building design and preparing cost estimates while coordinating with contractors. The project will go through different phases: APS (Preliminary Design) During this phase, the project team creates a summary of the design and layout of the project, including the main features and dimensions of the building, APD (Avant-Projet Définitif) where the project team develops a more detailed and complete design for the building, including plans, elevations, and sections. The intern will also visit the construction sites to inspect the work, assess the project's progress and identify any problems. Moreover, the candidate will participate in preparing the building permit which describes the conditions that must be met for the project to be approved, such as zoning requirements and building codes.
